

I know this agency must have had hundreds of thousands of complaints on the Superbowl smut issue however, I would still like to register my complaint just the same. I will spare any reader all the details as I'm sure they must have heard them all. I will say this, the level of VULGARITY in a venue such as the Superbowl, where one does not expect it is a relative achievement of reaching a new low in our ever declining standards as a nation. We seem to have lost the "moral high ground" in the world on many issues, it's a shame that something so "public" has become one of them. I'm afraid "wholesome" is a concept which has become extinct in broadcast in our country and this saddens me. Thank you.
